

Making a splash

Gordon Oliver / Lebanon Daily News

Kristen Travers, education-programs manager of the Stroud Water Research Center, discusses the topic "Streamside Forests: Providing Cleaner Water Naturally" during the sixth annual Lebanon/Lancaster County Watershed Forum, held yesterday at Quentin United Church of Christ. About 80 people attended the event, which was sponsored by the conservation districts of both counties. They included everyone from municipal officials to college students to master gardeners.